NO MESSIAHS ON THE BALLOT

Some voters next Tuesday will be disappointed in finding that there are no "Messiahs" on the ballot. After all the campaign "oratory" this year the election itself is apt to be anti-climactic, when it's discovered that all the candidates are mere mortals.

The time that elapses between the June primaries and the November election is too long. Perhaps some day soon a Maine Legislature will enact the necessary resolution to change the primary date to September. If this year's campaign lasted another two weeks, some people wouldn't vote just because of sheer fatigue and disgust. Altogether too much is said under the guise of "free debate" and "partisan politics" that the practice of ordinary good manners would leave unsaid.

Too much of the political "pitch" by the candidates' supporters is made to the lowest common denominator in the populace. It is hoped that winning candidates will be elected because of their individual qualifications, not because they are Republicans, Democrats, or Independents. Several years ago, Maine did away with "big box" straight-ticket voting, but unfortunately nothing can be done about "straight ticket" thinking.

Barbara Weeks presented a summary of the Council activities to date. A rundown of the committee's function and responsibilities was given, and present and future projects outlined. Selectmen of the towns included in the area to be serviced by the health clinic will be contacted by committee members to offer an opportunity for further information regarding the health clinic.

The Personnel Committee met on Oct. 26 at Dr. Wayne Gersen's home. Discussion primarily dealt with procedures for advertising, interviewing, and hiring of health clinic personnel. A report was prepared to submit to the Board for approval at the Nov. 2 meeting. Those present were: Dr. Gersen, Rebecca Shaw, Phyllis Dock, and Frances Harding.

C. OF C. MARKS NOVEMBER AS FOREST PRODUCTS MONTH

Posters, news articles and an exhibit in the Bethel Town Office will be used by the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce to focus attention on the area's wood products industry and the townspeople employed in this industry.

"We give exposure and advertising visibility to our businesses involved in tourism and winter sports but the wood products industry, a mainstay of our local economy, gets little attention," is the feeling expressed by the

BETHEL ROTARY CLUB HEARS ABOUT TELSTAR GRAPHIC ARTS

Telstar Regional High School's industrial arts program is unique within the state because of its graphic arts section according to Dave Tripp who instructs local students in printing and photography. Only five other schools in the state have programs similar to the Telstar course. Tripp explained his program and student interest in his courses on Tuesday when he was the guest speaker at the Bethel Rotary Club luncheon.

Tripp stresses the conceptual approach to graphic arts in his classes but after four years of industrial arts electives some students are pretty proficient in graphic skills. Girls are involved nearly as much as boys. Currently, of the 165 Telstar high schoolers taking the course, 36 are girls. Photography and silkscreen are the most popular classes. Tripp said that he sees an extended boom period to the local T-shirt industry due in part to his students' interest in screen printing.

Student recognition and kindling pride in their work are by-product values of Telstar's printing operations. Although all work has to have learning power, limited outside printing for the school or local organizations allows a student to circulate art work of his or her own within the community. Production printing follows up the teaching given during the scheduled four course program which consists of: screen printing, relief printing, offset and both color and black and white photography.

Since the oil crisis of 1974, greater attention has been given to our forest resources in general.

The Town Office will be open from 8 a.m. - 12 Noon this Saturday, Nov. 4, for the purpose of absentee voting, voters registration, and sales of hunting licenses.

If you will be out of Town for the General Election on Nov. 7 (Tuesday) and wish to vote absentee, contact Town Clerk Merton Brown. If the office hours are not convenient, an appointment can be made.

Residents are reminded that overnight on-street parking is prohibited from Nov. 1 to April 1. This ban went into effect Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Residents should also note that all 1979 budget requests and proposed warrant articles must be submitted to the Town Office by Dec. 15. Narrative reports for the Town's Annual Report must be submitted by Jan. 12.

The Board of Selectmen met Monday night, Oct. 30, for a special session. The meeting had been originally scheduled to discuss preliminary recommendations on the sewer study with the Town's consulting engineer DuBois and King Inc. At the request of the engineer, the discussions were postponed until Thursday, Nov. 9.

German Diary

by Ann Morton

As a chaperone for one girl representing the High School golf team at the finals, I had an opportunity to spend four days in Munich, the capital city of Bavaria.

Four of us - the coach and a boy who also qualified for the finals - travelled by night train from Berlin to Frankfurt, then on to Munich via Nurnberg. Sunny weather made the train ride through miles of vineyards, celery fields and attractive villages interesting. Having left the flat northern countryside behind, I was delighted with the rolling hills and colorful deep valleys.

Munich is a fascinating blend of old and new. While it has the largest concentration of museums in Germany, it also has more industry and commerce than any southern German city. A huge pedestrian mall occupies blocks in the center of the city. Buildings decorated with carvings and artistic scrolls contrast sharply with aluminum and plate glass windows. Next to intricate weather vanes and handsome brass door hardware, McDonald's golden arches looked strange. We strolled along windowshopping in and around street musicians, fruit and ice cream vendors, herb sellers and tables set outside of beer halls. The largest glockenspiel in Germany drew crowds twice a day to the huge square in Marienplatz.

Lunch at the nearby Ratskeller included sampling the typically Bavarian cuisine: sausages, including a white one (weisswurst), saurbraten, saurkraut, potato dumpling and smoked ham.

We enjoyed the 72 room Residenz Museum—a former castle now restored and filled with period furniture, china and art work from other Bavarian palaces. My companion that day was very knowledgeable about the history of the area, so I learned much that was not in the guide book. A tram ride to the Nymphenburg Palace, Park and Pavilions brought us to the hundreds of acres of gardens and forests surrounding magnificent buildings. The summer palace was begun in 1650 and has been extended by each succeeding prince elector or reigning family. It suffered much during the war but this damage has been repaired.

Munich's punctual, efficient transportation system gave me access to all areas of the city. A single ride costs 1.50 DM, but I bought a 24 hour ticket good for trams, subways (S-Bahn and U-Bahn) and buses for 5 DM. Believe me, I traveled night and day in all directions that day! My limited German vocabulary, a city map, and the helpful people I met gave me confidence to go anywhere.

One day was spent with my husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Morton of North Windham. They were on a tour of the Danube country and were in Munich three of the days that I was there. After a city bus tour and some shopping we spent an afternoon at Dachau. The former concentration camp has been restored as a memorial. A museum and film bring back the horror of the 1930's and 1940's, and a walk through the crematorium, gas chambers and barracks is not pleasant. The chapels, simple sculpture and plaques were well done. To me, one of the most meaningful areas was the inscription "Never Again" in five languages by the ashes of an unknown concentration camp victim.

Back in Munich, I enjoyed seeing the clothes worn by the people on the streets and in shops. At first I smiled at the "costumes" then realized that these clothes were everyday wear; older men in knee pants and heavy shoes, Bavarian felt hats decorated with a "brush" and many pins which were worn by both men and women, and I felt very "polyester" as I watched the popular Loden green and gray clothing parade past.

Either the blue sky, warm weather, friendly atmosphere or the wonderful feeling of a small town "gal" meeting the challenge of this Bavarian city head on—and coming out ahead—made Munich a very special place. The whole family will return to visit the Olympic Site, Deutsches Museum and Dachau.

Volksmarch Story Paul Morton

All the fourth grades in T. A. R. School went at 9:15 from the second grade playground at the beginning of the Volksmarch. As the fourth graders walked out the door, the band played for us. We walked by a lake and a canal that was being dug. We also went by the high school.

When we came back to school we all had free juice. We all were tired after the walk (4½ miles) so our teacher gave us some energy chunks so we wouldn't be so tired and it helped a lot! Then she handed out our medals. I was glad to get mine.

Our third try to get into East Berlin was successful, and we went on a sightseeing bus. We were briefed before getting to Check-Point Charlie: no pictures could be taken of military personnel, public transportation, or buildings marked with a special East German insignia. Cameras seen at bus windows as we went through the check-point could result in cancellation of the tour. The bus went through a maze and skirted concrete walls built to prevent unauthorized escapes. Guards armed with machine guns sat back to back; the 19,000 guards serve together only once so friendships will not form.

East Berlin is a "showcase" city; a few blocks off the main avenues the war damage remains untouched. Much of the housing we saw was for the diplomatic corps, and it was very modern. Less plush was the housing erected by the Russians 25 years ago to alleviate post-war housing shortages. In order to qualify for new housing, a person must donate 850 hours of his spare time helping to build the new apartment complexes. About 5% of East Germans own cars. Their names are put on a list, and there is often a ten year wait. When the name comes up, they have no choice of style, size or color. Many of the cars have a molded wood body and are made in the Communist bloc countries.

We were impressed by the Russian War Memorial, a beautiful park with huge statues of Mother Russia and two armed soldiers mourning those lost in the battle for Berlin. It is one of the only places in East Germany that has not been de-Stalinized, and his words are carved into white marble plaques along the paths.

We witnessed the changing of the guards at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. When the soldiers goose-stepped across the plaza and back, the crowd was silent. We were thinking back to the time when thousands of soldiers filled these streets with that precision marching. The mood was lightened as several children in the crowd imitated the soldiers, obviously intrigued by this unique way of marching.

Hitler's bunker and the red and white striped "death stakes" which warn people to stay away were about all that was left of wartime structures on the Unter den Eichen. Vacant lots and foundations marked the site of many former embassies and historical buildings.

It was a sunny day, but the city was colorless. Few flowers bloomed, the windows were dirty and streets littered; at one point a beautiful blond child sang a German nursery rhyme as she pedaled her tricycle beside the remains of a museum on the banks of the River Spree. The contrast made us stop for a minute and just watch.

After a few hours in East Berlin we were happy to return to the Western sector of the city where the restrictions that we do have at least seem to make more sense.

Only one candidate for Congress has told us exactly what has to be done about inflation, taxes & government spending.

OLYMPIA SNOWE

During this campaign Olympia Snowe took firm positions on the issues that affect your pocketbook.

Olympia Snowe wants to cut federal income taxes by 33 per cent over the next three years. Her opponent, Mark Gartley doesn't.

Olympia Snowe believes that wasteful Federal spending can be sliced by 25 Billion Dollars in one year. Mark Gartley only wants a moratorium to keep things as they are for the next 18 months.

And that's been the difference in this campaign. Talk's cheap but taxes and inflation aren't. One candidate has been trying hard to offer reasonable solutions.

That's why we need Olympia Snowe in Congress.

Greenwood City —

— Mrs. Collis Morgan, Corres. —

It doesn't seem possible that we are nearing the end of October. It seems such a short time ago that the woods were their green suits. The wood thrush sang so softly from tree tops tall. The wild flowers grew thick about our feet.

As I traveled the woods and hill-sides this week, it was very different. The peaks of colors have passed and the leaves have fallen. This is the time when the woods open up. I can now see the hills and their contours more readily. The crunch and crackle in a vast bowl of cornflakes under my feet can be heard a long way.

The oaks have come into their own now and will be on display for a few weeks looking like soft leather. Then they'll fade to various shades of brown and rustle winter away.

As I left the road to enter the woods some distance below here, I startled a flock of sparrows gathered to start their long trip south.

At the top of the first hill shafts of light made patterns among the tree trunks and on the ground cover. From here I could see part of the pond. In the brightness its smooth surface sparkled like a gown of dazzling sequins. I have seen it in many moods. It can become almost frighteningly black in contrast to the brilliance of today or it can be a furious gray.

Pausing here for a time I listened for other sounds than those made by me. The squirrels were busy among the oaks and a woodpecker sounded his tattoo on a dead elm just beyond a pine.

I moved on up the hill until I came to an ancient stone wall. Dried goldenrod stems, milkweed pods gaped and spilled their fluff, Virginia creepers dangled from trees, an oriole's nest was frayed, and a tangle of weeds all reminded me that nature is not a neat housekeeper. Everything looked neglected. Tomorrow will thrive, however, in this litter.

I followed the wall for some distance then came out by the road near a sumac bush so red against a poplar tree with brilliant yellow leaves still clinging and dancing in the slight breeze.

A blue jay flashed like a blue meteor just beyond, screaming that October is on its way out.

So I came home in the brown quietness, walking through the rustling leaf world to my yard where leaves still sifted noiselessly from my maple tree.

Ernest Morris is home from the Stephens Memorial Hospital. Helen Chojnacki is also home after spending a few days there.

Anna Jarvenpaa, Fay Holt, Ruth Hastings and I visited Emaline Heath at her home in Gilead on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt were in Windsor on Sunday to visit their son Robert and family, and also called on his sister, Anna Henderson.

Frank and Dorothy Curtis had 33 children this week. Louise Kates, Lisbon; Evelyn and Fred Heikkinen, Mexico; John Swan, Locke Mills; Mildred Bowman, Harry Mayberry, Hebron; Irene Stevens, Augusta; Fred Curtis, East Sumner; Walter Curtis, Chesterville.

The Ways and Means Committee of Woodstock, in their efforts to raise funds for rebuilding of the stage in the school gymnasium, will be conducting a bottle drive on Nov. 4, 11 and 18. Please call Brenda Mason in Greenwood or Joanne Seidell in Bryant Pond if you wish to donate.

At the Hayes Homestead they have been busy. Doris was in Livermore on Tuesday and bowled with the Oxford Hills Senior Citizens. Eva and Russell Yates, Sunday River, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Blake, Bethel; and Viva Whitman, Norway, were there for supper Thursday. Glenn, Rachel, Kerry Hayes of Gray visited on Saturday. THE DEMOCRAT... FOR A CHANGE

Authorized and paid by Gray for Senate Committee, Douglas Myers, Treas., Paris, Me.

Being a state senator should be a full time job. The complex issues facing Maine cannot be resolved on a part time basis. The full time, professional bureaucrats cannot be held accountable by a part time senator.

A full time senator can be more effective in making state government responsive to your needs. I have pledged to be a full time state senator.

REBEL GRIDDERS HANG ON TO SHARE OF VALLEY DIV. LEAD — DEFEAT BOOTHBAY 20-0

Mike Brooks scored on touch-down runs of one and two yards to lead the host Telstar Rebels to a 20-0 Mountain Valley Conference win over Boothbay Region High Saturday, snapping a three-game win streak for the Seahawks.

Telstar combined a wide open offensive attack with a stingy defense to raise its record to 6-2, for first place in the Valley division along with Leavitt.

Telstar got on the board in the first period on a two-point safety, credited to lineman Mike Brown. The Rebels went on to score one more time in the opening quarter on Brown's first touchdown plunge. The rush failed.

The Rebel defense put some points on the board in the third quarter when Russell Palmer recovered a blocked punt in the end zone. Again the rush failed, leaving the Telstar lead at 14-0.

Halfback Brooks, a team captain, put the game out of reach in the final quarter.

Telstar had one more touchdown called back on a penalty. Both teams passed heavily, Boothbay throwing 25 times, but the Telstar defense racked up eight sacks.

The Rebels also passed 25 times for over 100 yards and picked up 100 yards on the ground.

The Boothbay defense came up with several nice interceptions. The Seahawks now stand 3-4 on the season.

Telstar's Palmer was a defensive leader with eight unassisted tackles.

With the Valley Division title still in the balance, Telstar closes its season on Nov. 4 when they entertain Mountain Division Madison.

Why do you love Jesus?
"You ask me why?"
He gave me life,
I shall not die.
He freed me from my sin,
And lives deep within.
He gave me Faith, Hope, and Love,
And a home to dwell in the heavens above.
He is more than the Resurrection of every Spring.
He is my everything.

Mrs. Arline Bernier, Corres.

I notice political candidates brag about how many laws they've helped to enact. Wish some would consider it might be a virtue to get rid of many that have proved to be more harm than good.

Roland Bernier bulldozed an area to be used for a skating rink the school yard play ground.

Public service repaired the street lights and light in the church belfry which had apparently been shot out.

The kids cleaned up the Ladies' Aid building in preparation for their Halloween party. The balmy weather must be some sort of record or close to it for Halloween night.

Yvonne Viens and daughter Patricia, went to Berlin Tuesday to see the doctor.

I went to Saco Sunday for a decorator paint party and happened, without planning to be, alongside of Hosannah Church on Rte. 26 in Mechanic Falls at the time of the morning service, so I visited. On the return trip, I looked at the bulletin board and realized it was within a very few minutes of the evening service so

EXTENSION AND 4-H ANNUAL MEETING

The Oxford County Cooperative Extension Service will hold its Annual Meeting, Nov. 15, 7:30 p. m. at the South Paris Fire Hall. Election for vacant Advisory Board seats will be held and Leland Jack will present a slide show on his recent trip to the 4-H Conference in Washington, D. C. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

The Cooperative Extension Service is a non-profit organization providing services in family living, nutrition, 4-H, forestry, agriculture and community development. These services are free and three full-time agents are available for advice, assistance and referral. The extension office is located in Market Square, South Paris.

I stopped by again. Both services were very interesting and there was no pre-planning on my part in any way. Fun.

Gilles Viens has been working on the Hollis Abbott barn owned by the Arons to finish the razing job started by collapse and continued from time to time by hand labor.

WALKING WITH JESUS CHRIST

Plastics are OK—this said, but 'taint no substitute for wood. A sea going man may say—give me a wooden boat—there's life in her—takes work to keep her—but wood, even if cut and bolted, it's still alive—ride a rough sea—feel her work—she loves it—beautiful—even warm to the touch as many a man has said after a hard ride.

Marvels have their place—the marvels of Chemistry are evident everywhere—in many cases it's a science of substitution and brings about a better way of living.

Modern miracles are often the result of study and deep thought—yet how often do we slow down and think about ourselves? Perish the thought! Let's have fun or work harder—or do anything than think about our own self. Even the old railroad sign says: "Stop, Look and Listen"—But do we? Truthfully now, "Do I?" Are some of us "work-a-holics"—alcoholics reimbursement, because of this. In addition a Special State Aid Project was done on Sunday River this summer. Town Road Improvement Funds were expended on the Monkey Brook Road this fall.

In a letter to the editor in the Citizen last week Leah Deegan said that "she thought" Paul McGuire would make a good Representative. "I know" that Karen Brown will make a good Representative. Her record in the 108th proves that. When we have a representative who will work as hard and represent her district as well as Karen has during the past two years, why change?

As a Representative to the Legislature, Karen has worked hard for her district, both while in session and between sessions. I feel that she is a dedicated Legislator, who deserves your support. Your voice on Nov. 7, will be appreciated.

Sincerely,
Roger E. Hanscom, Chairman
Selection of Newry

Letters to the Editor
To the Editor:
I would like to begin this by saying that my door-to-door campaign has been an education. Citizens from Bethel to Hartford, Upton to Roxbury have shared their problems and ideas with me. Working people, senior citizens, and those just entering the job market have impressed me over and over again with their grasp of the basic problems facing rural Maine and their willingness to explore solutions to the critical problems of tax reform, economic development, education and resource management.

I hope in our conversations in your homes and in reading my letters and remarks over the past few weeks, you have decided that I would be an effective representative on your behalf in Augusta.

I hope that you will vote on Nov. 7. You do have choices to make.

Sincerely,
Paul McGuire

To the Voters of House District 63:
I am writing to urge you to vote for Paul McGuire for the Maine House of Representatives on Nov. 7.

Paul is a man of proven ability, who has demonstrated the talent to be an effective representative in Augusta, and the willingness to work hard in behalf of his neighbors.

Throughout this campaign, he has made it a point to go door to door meeting and talking with the people he wants to represent. He has promised to work for your interests in Augusta. He understands the need for a tax system, and the need to combat the effects of inflation on the average worker's paycheck.

The 109th Legislature will be making crucial decisions for our state about these and other issues as we enter the decade of the 1980's. We need men and women with energy, commitment and ability if we are to make the right choices. Paul McGuire is just such a man. I endorse his candidacy without reservation.

Sincerely,
Edmund S. Muskie

To the Editor:
It is a fact, I believe, that anyone who serves in public office has a special obligation to keep abreast of the concerns of the people he or she represents. Legislative District 63 is a rural district covering some several hundred square miles, and as such has specific needs and concerns. I have visited every community in it on a regular basis and tried to represent this area to the best of my judgement to make government responsive and more effective.

In the past eight weeks I have made door to door visits to be in touch with as many of you as possible in order to hear your particular concerns and to explain what I have done to represent you in the past two years. This has been done despite two special ses-

FOREST PRODUCTS MONTH

The intent of declaring November as Forest Products Month is to give specific attention to Bethel enterprises and the dimensions of this industry in terms of products, management and employees. This goal will be approached in part through a series of news articles. One of the articles, it is hoped, will be written and researched by Telstar High School students. A second method of spotlighting this industry will be a year long program of exhibits in the Town Office sponsored by the Chamber and the business concerned. The first business covered in the news article series and by exhibit is the S. Timberlake Co.

Once the series is complete, the chamber will provide copies of the news articles to any party interested in Bethel's industry. The first article in this series follows:

S. Timberlake Company:
Early American Furniture
by Donald G. Bennett
Founded in 1974 and officially opened in 1975, the S. Timberlake Co. is a family enterprise located in Bethel village. The company manufactures Shaker style chairs and other furniture pieces designed in the early American style. Although the Timberlakes had been interested in this type of business for some time, the increase in demand for these products generated by American bicentennial activities convinced them that a good potential market for such products existed. Besides the direct retailing of their own product line, the company produces pine furniture for distribution through several outlets.

Throughout the past year, the S. Timberlake Co. has seen a steady expansion of its marketing program, product development and manufacturing capacity. Much of the retailing is done through use of an attractive, four page catalog that now includes their newest product—a drop leaf table of Shaker design. Also, during the past year, the company opened a showroom at its plant on Church Street. In the plant, new sanding equipment and more sophisticated dust control installations are designed to increase production capacities and improve quality.

The company incorporated in 1977. Its officers are Samuel H. Timberlake, president and treasurer; Natalie H. Timberlake, vice-president; Paul W. Damon, clerk. The Timberlakes' son, S. Ross Timberlake, assists in both production and marketing.

Donald Larsen, a Bethel resident and graduate of Gould Academy, is the company's oldest employee having been with the Timberlakes since March 1976. Overall, the company's operations requires three full time employees and five during peak periods. Now, however, the Timberlakes foresee the need for personnel with maintenance abilities as their production equipment inventory expands. At the present, personnel qualifications fall more into the maintenance area than into the operator area. In their hiring program, they look for personnel with certain skills; but the company has its own training program.

When asked why he is in this business, Sam Timberlake will tell you that he saw how families today were looking for quality furniture with clean simple lines—traditional yet contemporary. He felt that with his industrial engineering as well as his plant and production management experience he could produce high quality items at costs lower than similar items produced by hand, one at a time. One of the problems he encountered was finding a local supply of high quality materials since the wood needed for furniture manufacture must be of a much lower moisture content than that produced by local lumber wholesalers. This problem has been solved so that local supplies are obtained from the P. H. Chadbourne Co., which double kiln dries the material it supplies to the Timberlakes.

This problem has been solved so that local supplies are obtained from the P. H. Chadbourne Co., which double kiln dries the material it supplies to the Timberlakes.

When asked why he is in this business, Sam Timberlake will tell you that he saw how families today were looking for quality furniture with clean simple lines—traditional yet contemporary. He felt that with his industrial engineering as well as his plant and production management experience he could produce high quality items at costs lower than similar items produced by hand, one at a time. One of the problems he encountered was finding a local supply of high quality materials since the wood needed for furniture manufacture must be of a much lower moisture content than that produced by local lumber wholesalers. This problem has been solved so that local supplies are obtained from the P. H. Chadbourne Co., which double kiln dries the material it supplies to the Timberlakes.

800 VISITORS IN 1978

AT MOSES MASON HOUSE

Approximately 800 persons visited the Moses Mason House during the 1978 season according to Stanley R. Howe, museum curator. While attendance at most Maine museums was less than usual, nearly a third more visited the Moses Mason museum than in 1977. Howe explains the increase as due to increased publicity.

As in the past most visitors were from Maine (217), but Massachusetts provided nearly as many (212). Twenty-nine other states were represented plus Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and six nations, United Kingdom, Canada, Mexico, India, West Germany and Saudi Arabia.

On Oct. 14, a coffee was held to honor all the volunteers who had contributed to the success of the 1978 season. Those honored were Maxine Brown, Sylvia Dunham, Rosalind Chapman, Hazel Wheeler, Edith Eddy, Mary Valentine, Carolyn Brooks, Beatrice Conrad, Ernestine Jackson, Frances Harding, Agnes Haines, Floribel Haines, Ruth Ames, Amy Davis, Helen Morton, Florence Hastings, Persis Post, Margaret Tibbitts, Judith Haskell, Geraldine Howe, Steve Seames, Sue Wight, and Marge Noll. Special recognition was given Barbara H. Brown who had again provided the museum with such attractive floral arrangements.

Clarice Gibson, Corres.
We have now changed times again. Don't know how long before we will get adjusted to it; but this usually takes a while.

This morning the ground was white from the frost and the river looked like a huge steaming tea kettle as the fog rose straight out of the ground. At the same time the trees and banks themselves were reflected in the river. The river is unusually shallow as we do need rain even though we have been having some overcast days and a few showers.

About 25 people from the Bethel History Class came to the foot of Bennett hill into the woods road to the site of the Anasagunticook house, open July 4, 1659, by John Chapman. There was also a store, stable, bowling alley and bathhouse. There were two boiling springs that contained sulfur, iron and magnesium. The guests not only could bathe in the boiling springs; but there was also fresh water springs for drinking. After the Civil War the hotel declined and was torn down. Some of the lumber in this was used in building the Bruce and Becky Bailey farm off Route 26 and the Seth Mason place which was on this road.

Mrs. Sylvia Benson had dinner at Joan Coolidge's trailer Wednesday and the two ladies went to Norway Friday.

Amy Laban, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Laban and Brian Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Anderson, also, have the chicken pox.

Mrs. George Guinness was judge at skit night Friday night at Telstar.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine had a harvest dinner Sunday. Their son, Dick Angevine, Sue, and children, Sheri, Ricky and Tommy; their daughter Judy, Victor, and two girls; Mrs. Betty Blake and Mrs. Rena Abbott were their guests. The Angevines also talked to their other daughter, Barbara Baudo and husband, Bob, who are in New Mexico. Imagine they probably said "hello" to their two grandchildren.

Thursday and Friday Sheri Angevine was out of school sick. Kristy Angevine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, went to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Witter's, Bethel, to Stacey Witter's birthday party.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Anderson and children went to the steak house in Gorham, N. H., Sunday evening.

Mrs. Leslie Lapham visited at Ledgeview nursing home and visited Mildred Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason III and two children had Sunday dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason Jr.'s, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Moore and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine, Kristy and Timmy, went to the Chicken Coop Saturday night.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Moore went to the Halloween party at the Nazarene Church Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shimamura and Jody went to Portland Saturday and while there ate at York Steak House.

Thelma Merrill and Mildred Mave visited Mildred's husband several times this week at St. Mary's Hospital, Lewiston.

Paul McGuire was around visiting people on our road Sunday.

Tuesday, Oct. 24, I went down to see my friend Barbara Immonen in West Paris and had breakfast with her, then rode over to Norway to the folks. Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Dad went to South Paris to pick up Billy Walker for dinner. Billy used to work in the folks' mill when I was a girl and I used to go over (we lived across the street from the mill) to tease him into letting me use the adding machine and typewriter. This mill burned flat one night soon after my 10th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Seames had an NYI Halloween party at their

FOOD FOR THOUGHT (CFNC News)

The next few articles in this column will be focusing on the positive aspects of vitamins. A lot of people think taking vitamin supplements is a waste of time and money. It's been a controversial subject until recently when more and more research is being done to clarify just what this vitamin scene is all about.

One statement that makes a lot of sense is that with all the processing that food has to go through to get canned or frozen, it loses most of its vitamin content. Unless you can get an abundance of fresh produce on a regular basis or you have your own garden that doesn't have a million synthetic chemicals in it to make it grow fast, you are not getting the nutrition your body needs to survive the stress and pollution in our present environment. Simple as that.

Next week, some of the common vitamins and their specific values will be expounded on here. So, come on back.

Happy munch-out!

B.E.A.R.S., Inc.

Don Morin, John and Arlene Greenleaf went to a meeting of the Southern Maine Volunteer Rescue Association held in Hebron Tuesday, Oct. 24.

The E. M. T. Class is running along smoothly. Last Thursday night we had a very interesting lecturer from Rumford hospital, Joe Morin, the anesthesiologist. I really think this was one of the best classes we've had. This week Dr. Tyler from Rumford hospital will be the lecturer on "Shock."

The First Aid Class will be learning C. P. R. on Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Safety Tip of the Week

Deer hunting season opens soon—be aware of your children playing in open fields and wooded areas. Wearing fluorescent orange may help distinguish a two-legged deer from a four-legged deer.

TELSTAR MUSIC BOOSTERS RE-ORGANIZE

A re-organizational meeting of the Telstar Music Boosters was held Monday evening with Martha Farrington, Bryant Pond, elected president and Eleanor Tracy, Andover, secretary/treasurer. The position of vice president hopefully will be filled soon. District contact persons were appointed as follows: Andover, Darlene Hall; Greenwood, Denise Swan; Woodstock, Martha Farrington. Bethel is in need of a volunteer.

Band director Jerry Hefley addressed the group, explaining the new band uniforms will cost approximately $6,700. To date $6,000 has been appropriated by the school board, $400 has been raised by band students and parents, with a balance of $300 needed by April. The average life of a uniform is six to eight years, Hefley commented, and the present uniforms have been in service for 10 years.

All band students, parents, and others interested in providing a good music background for the children are urged to support the Music Boosters by attending their meetings and fund-raising functions.

S. A. D. #44 boasts a terrific band—Mr. Hefley and the kids work hard to make it good—the parents do too.

The next Music Boosters meeting will be Dec. 4 at 7:30 p. m. in the Telstar Band Room.

Magalloway & WILSON'S MILLS

— Mrs. Bertha West, Corres. —

We have been having rather cool weather the past week.

The Berlin oil heating men have been up repairing all the furnaces on the river last week.

Tuesday the Extension Group met at the Hall as usual. They gave Helen Hart and Bertha West a birthday party. Helen was 92 years old and 1, 79 years. There was a lovely birthday cake made by Ilsa McGinley and decorated by Alice Harvey. And each had a nice assortment of gifts. The host part was a surprise visit from our representative, Karen Brown, and her mother, Mrs. Barbara D. Brown. We were all very pleased.

Friday, a housewarming party was given to Glen and Eleanor White who have just got moved into their new trailer home. There was quite a large crowd that met at the trailer home then they were invited to the hall where a nice lunch was served buffet style. A money house was made by Ilsa McGinley with a red chimney to deposit one's gift in. They received $105, an electric clock and other gifts. It was a complete surprise to them.

Friday, Donald Glover, while working in the woods, got hit in the eye by a raspberry cane and had to go to the eye specialist, Dr. Foord in North Conway Sunday afternoon. He found he has a thorn in the pupil of his eye and has got to keep quiet a few days before the doctor can remove it. We are all very sorry for him.

Saturday night there was a good crowd out for Grange at the hall. All report a nice time.

Florence Adams is home from the Mary Hitchcock Hospital. She has to go back next month for a check up.

Motivations for Buying

Strong forces are keeping the single home market very much alive despite the increasing price trend over the past several years. A probe of the motivations behind current sales has found that buyers are convinced that home ownership is worth the financial sacrifice for environmental reasons. A better place for their children to live and the farther from the city the better.

A second powerful influence is inflation. Buyers are convinced that the housing inventory is too short to see any significant over supply or reduction in value in their lifetime.

Another influence, not to be ignored, is retirement. In many cases, home ownership offers the only hope to enter retirement in a condition other than poverty. Since Social Security was designed as a supplement and not sufficient to live on, a free and clear home, or the investment potential of home equity, provides a solid base for retirement.

Ray has many years of practical experience in crisis counseling adolescents in sex, drug, alcohol, and related problems. ## TELSTAR GIRLS PREVAIL 2-1 —ADVANCE TO WESTERN MAINE FINALS

The top-seeded Telstar girls' field hockey squad defeated fourth seeded Dirigo 2-1 in a game played Tuesday afternoon at Telstar.

Dirigo scored first on a drive by Kim Schmitt about half way through the first half. Telstar missed several scoring opportunities before cashing in on a tally by Pam Bean with an assist on the play by Tania Hathaway.

In the second half, the action was furious, with several goal-to-goal rushes by both squads. The Rebels got the winning goal with eight minutes to go in the second half when a Dirigo defender fell on a loose ball at the mouth of the Dirigo goal. The infraction resulted in a penalty stroke for Telstar, with Telstar wing Suzette Wing taking the shot. Suzette's effort was apparently wide of the net at eye-level, but the goalie defended the shot improperly, and Telstar was awarded the goal.

In the waning minutes of the game, Dirigo was unable to seriously threaten the Telstar goal, and the Rebels moved a step closer to their second straight state crown in field hockey.

The Rebels play today, Thursday, Nov. 2, at Telstar against Jay who scored a 3-2 victory against Maranacook in double overtime on Tuesday. The winner of today's game will represent Western Maine in the hockey championships at Orono on Saturday morning.
